My Unforgettable Experience

30th January, 2019

Last week, I moved into the new flat and wanted to repair the old machine that I brought from the old flat. When I was repairing the machine, I was trapped in it. I made some loud noise and made my neighbours wake up. Two children next to my flat came and helped. They pressed the button and the window opened.

The old man became a man who had no arms. We felt scared. The firemen used an axe to cut the electricity of the machine, the machine was broken and they opened the door. The old man could not change back to a human. He stayed in the hospital. The doctor said he needed to have an operation. The old man felt so sad.

Later we talked to the old man and found out that the old man wanted to become younger so he made the machine and he went into the machine. He pressed the wrong button so the machine was out of order and made him lose his arms.

After the accident, the old man became friends with us, he gave us some fruits to thank us for saving his life.
